In 9<sup>3</sup> and 900NG cars the connector is different and looks like the image shown below.

Can connector
PartNo: 41 17 461
Pin partNo: 41 150 77

D9	Can
7	1
2	2
3	5

Also connect can pins 6 and 4 together.
This will allow programming

CAN Bus termination

A CAN bus interface needs to be terminated by 120 Ω on both sides. This means a resistor should be soldered over CANH and CANL lines as close as possible on either side of the line. But... Trionic is already terminated internally by 120 Ω. This is probably done because the CAN interface on Trionic would never be used as a real bus architecture, it would always be a one-to-one connection. This voids the need for adding a resistor on the Trionic side. For the best result the cable used should be twisted (CANH and CANL) up to approx. 1 cm from the connectors.
